Terms & Conditions: This offer entitles the recipient to join for only £1 when agreeing to a 12 month contract.
THE future of The Playhouse theatre, Harlow Youth Council and the town’s paddling pools have been thrown into doubt after a consultation on next year’s budget revealed they were the least popular among residents.

In July Harlow Council embarked on a two-month public consultation on spending priorities as it plans for a future with less money.

Yesterday (Wednesday) it published the results of the survey but insisted it will not rush into any “short-term” decisions.

The survey included funding choices for services the council provides itself or pays for directly, including those discretionary services it is not legally obliged to offer as well as those it is required by law to provide.

Council leader Jon Clempner said: “This is the first time the council has run a consultation of this size on such an important issue. It reflects the desire to be open and transparent on the decisions we have to make.

“I would like to thank the many residents who took part and told us what their budget choices would be. We have some challenging decisions ahead of us. Having a picture of what services are the most important to the community will help with those decisions.”

The majority of respondents said they wanted to see the level of council services stay the same.

The council scored each service based on the number of responses it had for ceasing, reducing, or increasing provision. The option to scrap statutory services was not available.

Based on the scoring system, the discretionary services which received the highest scores were parks, playgrounds and green spaces, regeneration of the town and reducing anti-social behaviour.

Discretionary services which received the lowest scores were Harlow Youth Council, sports and leisure, The Playhouse, paddling pools and grants to the voluntary and charity sector.

One resident, when referring to The Playhouse which this year received £820,000 of council taxpayers’ money, wrote: “Some groups presumably use the theatre because it is there . . . their existence is not [dependent] upon the theatre building. If given an option, I would rather [lose] this tired looking building rather than lose the [benefits] the green space and parks bring to the town.”

Another wrote: “With respect to The Playhouse, it should have to operate in the same commercial field that others do and pay its way or cease trading. Why should taxpayers with no interest in the arts pay their taxes to benefit those who do?”

Other suggestions included introducing a small entrance fee for Pets’ Corner, charging to use the paddling pools and reducing councillors’ allowances.

The statutory services which received the highest scores were road and pavement repairs, street cleaning and meeting housing need while local council tax support, planning, licensing and the administration of revenues and benefits scored the lowest.

The results were compiled from 489 completed surveys sent to 2,000 randomly selected homes, giving a statistically reliable sample of households in Harlow. A further 540 surveys were completed online and on paper by other residents or groups who wanted to have their say.

Half of those who responded to the household survey were sent a “decide” poster to return as a ballot paper.

We will not rush into short-term decisions

The annual Harlow jobs fair organised by MP Robert Halfon takes place at the Leisurezone tomorrow (Friday).

More than 80 businesses will be taking part, showcasing hundreds of job opportunities.

The fair takes place from 10am-3.30pm and entry is free.

The survey felt that Harlow Council’s share of council tax should stay the same, while 16 per cent would agree to an increase. However, a third – 34 per cent – favoured a cut.

Thirty-nine per cent of respondents in the ‘open’ survey felt the council’s share of council tax should stay the same and 39 per cent would agree to an increase, with the remainder favouring a decrease.

Residents were also asked for their views on services that the council does not currently provide and almost 400 suggestions were received. The issue that topped this list was street lighting, currently provided by Essex County Council, followed by garden waste collections and the provision of youth services.

Cllr Clements added: ‘Now the results are published I’d like the community to provide feedback and comments.

‘I want to be clear that no decisions on the future of any service have yet been made, and we will not rush into short-term decisions.

‘We will follow the council’s normal budget setting process taking into account the consultation, the money available to the council, the constraints placed on us on how we spend it, the need for the finances to be sustainable in the medium to long term, and ensuring fairness for all for Harlow’s residents.

‘I welcome the fact that residents share my view that they want to see a positive, visible difference to Harlow in areas such as parks, play-grounds and open spaces, and in street cleaning.

‘While progress has already been made in this area, we will certainly be taking into account these views when setting next year’s budget.’

Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson said he hoped the results would lead to a wider conversation with the public over how to fund services such as The Playhouse and the paddling pools.

‘It’s a really good place for further conversations to take place. I hope it doesn’t mean things will just shut,’ he said.

Since 2011 the amount of money the council receives from the Government – which funds 46 per cent of services – has been cut by almost 50 per cent. This is expected to continue with an expected further reduction of 16 per cent in 2015/16 and 10 per cent in 2016/17.

Family of murder victim raise £550

The family and friends of Claire Parrish, the mother-of-four who was murdered by her former partner two years ago, have raised more than £550 for Safer Places.

They held a ‘night in’ fundraiser for the organisation which supports victims of domestic violence.

Ms Parrish’s sister Casey said: “We are overwhelmed at the generosity of everyone that made this possible. We hope the money raised will prevent at least one family from suffering the unbearable heartache we did.

“We want to thank everyone that donated raffle prizes, especially Head to Head barbers and Mark and Adam from the Heart and Club pub for their donations to the raffle.”

Star are working hard on projects to improve town

SIR Whilst I’m not surprised by Mike Carr’s bile-enriched letter about Harlow Council’s budget consultations (Star, September 4), I do wonder whether the ‘news’ perception of the hard-working staff of the council and especially the regeneration team.

We know his simple solution is to become Dr Who and time travel back to the 1930s to solve the problems of today’s new growing and changing town.

In the same edition of the Star in which his rant appeared there were three articles that show we as a town are developing, growing and enhancing services – the new rugby club and housing development, the consultation for the regeneration of The Stow and the upgrade of the tennis courts.

He must hate walking past the new homes and supermarket at Clifton Cross and the newly planned council houses due to commence this year. I could also mention many other new and exciting developments including the Enterprise Zone.

None of these projects would have left the drawing board with the skills, knowledge, expertise and leadership of the hard-working staff at Harlow Council. They enable us to achieve our collective promise.

I fully accept and respect that Mike will carry on challenging both the politics and policy makers over decisions that I wouldn’t accept as cheap shots at staff.

I also appreciate projects have caused massive time delays and challenges but we are determined to make them happen for the benefit of the local community and the town.

So let us be proud of what we have achieved collectively and let’s respect the work of those who quietly get on to make a real and lasting difference to our town.

Cllr Tony Duncan (Labour)
Rendles, Harlow

Shared access route is a satisfactory arrangement

In response to the letter in last week’s Star headlined “Pavements are now walk on so we can’t use them”, this is because of its relationship with Latoon Common, because it has now been recognised that this incident has now been recognised that this incident cannot be cleared up after the council.

When you consider they don’t pay for things most people have to pay for – council tax, television licences and water rates and so you see them parking up the road in keeping with the right side of the road in keeping with the right hand side of the road in keeping with the right hand side of the road in keeping with the right hand side of the road in keeping with the right hand side of the road in keeping with the right hand side of the road.

I therefore feel the dog should be raised for the service they provide.

Brockles Mead, Harlow

It’s still our national flag so let us fly it with pride

SIR I am amazed that an obviously intelligent man like Robert Johnson should continue to miss the point regarding our national flag.

If he took his preferred flag of a red dragon on a white background on a tour of the civilized world it’s a fair bet that 99 percent of people would ignore it. He’s got it wrong.

The simple reason for this is that, right now is, it is the flag of England and no amount of historical heraldic research is going to change that. There is not a person alive on the planet today who can remember Crich St George which possibly we could afford if we didn’t have to pay all the usual taxes, the least they could do is make the effort to keep their site tidy.

SIR

The least travellers can do is clear up after them

SIR I think most people object to travellers who, after setting up camp, leave the cost of clearing up after them.

When you consider they don’t pay for things most people have to pay for – council tax, television licences and water rates and so you see them driving top of the range cars which possibly we wouldn’t be able to afford if we didn’t have to pay all the usual taxes, the least they could do is make the effort to keep their site tidy.

SIR

An open space in a town of diminishing greening

SIR Once again there is an application to build on Harlow Rugby Club. Which part of the word “no” don’t the applicants understand? This must be the second or third time.

This open space is a green wedge, a lung in a town of diminishing greening. If housing must go anywhere, why not the old Passmores School site? Build there or even convert the school into flats.

Terry Slater
Moorfield, Harlow

My thanks to two of the kindiest people I have met

SIR In the early hours of Saturday, August 16 I had to call an ambulance, thinking my 22-year-old partner had possibly started a heart attack. The two paramedics in the ambulance who arrived were unbelievably kind, supportive and reassuring.

They tended to him, reassuring him and they didn’t have any experience in getting on to make a real and lasting difference to our town.

SIR

I feel police did not treat my complaint seriously

SIR I am writing to you to share an incident which occurred involving a group of travellers and one of their animals and the attitude I received when Harlow police treated the incident with the seriousness it deserved.

I work full time and I have a six-year-old daughter. We chose our house in Tahabeland because we liked the playing field and children’s playground located at the bottom of our garden.

One Sunday back in June I was playing a ball game with my child on the field. She threw the ball which rolled towards a group of travellers had set up camp. As I went to retrieve it I had to run up to me and hit my forearm, causing bleeding and an injury approximately 4.5 inches long. I was obviously in shock so went home to clean the wound.

The next day I attended my GP surgery and was given a tetanus booster injection and a week’s worth of antibiotics. My GP advised me to report the incident to the police which I did and was told officers would come to take a statement within 24 hours.

After three days of waiting I decided to email a picture of my injury, along with my concerns that if the dog had attacked a child the injury sustained could potentially be life-changing. The response I received was that it was not possible to get officers to attend every incident within 24 hours. Five days after the incident I was asked to attend the police station to make a statement which I did.

I then received an email from the police officer who had taken my statement stating, incorrectly, the animal was caged and therefore not dangerous, he was on his way to inform me that it is considered a normal animal reaction to bite something we come across. I was gobsmacked. Did this officer really not listen to a word I was saying or was this a deliberate attempt not to act on the information provided?

I was outraged that I had taken the time to report this incident in an attempt to prevent a child being hurt and the police were not interested. After a meeting with the Chief Inspector and numerous email exchanges, it has been recognised that this incident was not dealt with appropriately and will now be investigated.

This particular group of travellers have now moved on but as I write they have been replaced by another group. I haven’t spotted any dogs as yet but the rubbish they dump is unhygienic and its council tax payers who will end up picking up the bill for the clean up job.

I would urge all residents of Harlow to share their experiences to support the council in gaining a suitable resolution to the problem.

A report in the Star stated that these travellers are only in Harlow because they have been refused planning permission to develop a site in Epping. We all have to abide by building regulations and I am sure there are many readers who have jumped through hoops to get extensions etc. accepted. However, we have not yet been treated to parking a caravan on a public field.

UTC marks new era in education

A HARLOW College apprentice has been named a regional winner in a national awards.

Paige Tennison, 19, was the south east regional winner in the Unilever Higher Apprentice of the Year category.

She will now go forward to the national judging panel stage of the competition. The overall winner will be announced at the at the NEC, in Birmingham, on November 13.

Paige, who worked at Applied Scintillation Technologies in Harlow as an engineering apprentice while also studying at the college, is now working toward completing a higher apprenticeship at the University Centre Harlow after finishing her intermediate and advanced apprenticeships.

Last year she was named joint winner of the apprentice of the year title at the Harlow Star Business Excellence Awards.

Squadron enrolls six new recruits

SIX new recruits have joined the ranks of Harlow’s air cadets.

Ben Barnard, Harry Collins, Daniel King, Charlie Manley, Luke Winders and Jack McConnell have been enrolled as members of the 2317 (Harlow) Squadron of the Air Training Corps after completing basic training.

All six cadets were enrolled in a ceremony conducted by Flight Lieutenant Racheal Dumoulin at the squadron’s new headquarters in Old Road.

As full members of the squadron they will take part in various activities including Duke of Edinburgh training, aircraft recognition, navigation exercises, archery, flying and gliding.

The squadron, which is open to boys and girls aged 13 and above, is now recruiting cadets for the next intake. The group meets from 7.30-9.30pm on Mondays and Fridays.

Delays on the construction of the Sir Charles Kao University Technical College in Harlow did not stop staff and students starting lessons on Monday.

The UTC, which specialises in small environments and medical technology, is one of 13 new university technical colleges to open across the country this week.

A total of 140 students are starting at the Harlow UTC - which has 12 teachers and seven support staff - this year.

Aimed at 14-19 year-olds, it differs from traditional schools and career colleges by focusing on a technical education. The curriculum does not include subjects such as art, music or drama.

Principal Michael McKeaveney said: “We have the flexibility to spend more time looking in-depth at what students are learning through large projects that develop their initiative and teamwork skills.

“They will have direct access to the employers and the employers can complete ‘live’ projects that give them an experience of university life or the specialist work life they will eventually enter.”

The students will also be subject to rigorous assessment of their projects with representatives from the sponsors and linked companies sitting in.

“I expect to see lessons that challenge the most able and support those who haven’t made as much progress as you’d expect,” said Mr McKeaveney.

“I'd also expect those lessons and experiences to reflect the project and challenge work that the students are working on this term.

“For instance, in January we are working with Raytheon on the physics and maths behind wind turbines while this term we are working on creating and engineering a knee joint that lasts longer than 20 years. I’m expecting to see young-sters and adults that grow and flourish with the unique experiences we will give them.”

As well as classrooms and seminar rooms, facilities at the UTC include computer aided design studios, a light engineering and manufacturing centre, a computer science and electronics centre, science laboratories and a large demonstration hall.

The delay in construction work was caused when one of the sub-contractors responsible for the mechanical and electrical aspects of the building went into administration over the summer. However, it is expected it will be ready by the beginning of December.

Until then, staff and students will be spending the autumn term working in a separate building on the Harlow College campus.

“I’ve been overwhelmed by the support of the parents, the sponsors, the local college and local people in general,” said Mr McKeaveney. “It’s been a long time coming and a lot of work has gone into the project. It’s good to see it come to life.”

AGM of group holding the purse strings of healthcare

THE body responsible for buying healthcare services for Harlow residents will be holding its first annual meeting later this month.

The West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group will use the meeting to outline its achievements during its first year in operation as well as providing an overview of the future of local health services.

The meeting takes place at the Harlow Resource Centre in Maddins Road on Thursday, September 25 from 2.30-3.30pm.

Before the start of the meeting the exhibition of the CCG’s current work will be on display, with representatives from each team on hand to discuss the projects they are working on.

The exhibition will be held from 12.30-2pm.

Reprieve for Meals on Wheels

The Meals on Wheels service subsidised by Essex County Council has been saved. The future of the service was called into doubt as the numbers of users decreased and County Hall looked at ways to make savings. But the council found that people who use the service did not want to lose it and believed that “a full removal of the subsidy would result in the service being unaffordable.”

Following the feedback, it has chosen not to remove the subsidy. Instead the cost of meals will be increased by 25p to £4.20.

County Councillor Anne Brown, cabinet member with responsibility for adult social care, said: “I am delighted that we have been able to protect this service, allowing older residents across the county to have access to an affordable hot meal.”

Harlow Council is clamping down on drivers who park outside their garages.

One resident, Roy Adams, of Kingsland, has rented his garage for 18 years and banned the new rules “ludicrous.” Mr Adams, 65, received a letter from the council which said he was “not at liberty to park in a garage/hardstanding area” and warned anyone parking outside could be at risk of being clamped.

“I’ve never heard of anything like this since I’ve had the garage,” he said.

“The letter says something about blocking access to the garage and hardstanding area but I have never had the garage 18 years and there have never been issues like that.

“The person next to me has a vehicle that will not go into the garage so has to park it outside.”

Retired Mr Adams, pictured above, who has a medium sized family car, said he had to park “very carefully” in his garage to be able to open the door and get out of the vehicle.

“We’re accused of blocking access, even though a road runs right through the middle of the garages,” Mr Adams said.

“They don’t say whose access we block but it must be a massive vehicle if cars parked off-road prevent it moving along a normal sized road.

“It’s ludicrous and difficult to understand why someone at Harlow Council has decided that they now have an access problem.”

“The garages are small and some modern vehicles are simply too tall to fit inside them. Residents continue to pay a quite extortionate rent so that they have a designated place to leave their vehicles.”

A Harlow Council spokesman said: “The council has written to a number of garage block tenants in Kingsland.

“This follows complaints from tenants that they are unable to access their garage due to several other garage tenants parking in front of garages either side of the block.

“The council’s priority is to ensure that tenants are able to use the garages they pay for. We are reminding garage tenants that under the conditions of their tenancy that they cannot block access to a garage block or park outside a garage.

“Clamping vehicles and pursuing enforcement action is a very last resort and is something the council constantly reviews.

“The council is confident that it can resolve this issue working with residents.”

Council clamps down on parking outside garages
Science hub likely to create 700 new jobs

HUNDREDS of jobs would be created if Public Health England moves its national science hub from Wiltshire to Harlow.

Speaking about the proposed move during a debate at Westminster Hall on Thursday, Harlow MP Robert Halfon said: “Public Health England’s move to Harlow would give the town a much-needed boost, with an estimated 700 jobs created initially.”

PHI announced in July that it would recommend moving the science hub programme from its current base in Porton Down near Salisbury to the New Frontiers Science Park in Harlow.

Under the recommendation, the programme’s support services as well as PHE’s headquarters, will be moved to Harlow while maintaining a central London base.

Mr Halfon, who has campaigned for the move by holding meetings with Government ministers as well as raising the issue in the House of Commons, said: “The proposed site in Harlow is ideally located on the London to Cambridge science corridor.

“Public Health England will be able to benefit from the life sciences and science-based enterprises based around Harlow. The town also has an Enterprise Zone that specialises in MedTech and IT, which will help Public Health England in its vital role of protecting the nation’s security and well-being.”

State-of-the-art science hub planned for GSK site

He also pointed out that the move was a good one for the taxpayer as it is estimated that it would save the public purse more than £100bn over a 60-year period.

Addressing the benefits of the proposal to Harlow, Mr Halfon said:

“Thanks to the Enterprise Zone and the UTC, the relocation would be a good strategic fit and Harlow Council is very supportive of the move.

“It would also be consistent with the increasingly renowned pathology specialism of the Princess Alexandra Hospital.”

He summed up by claiming: “As I said, the decision is right for Public Health England, for British taxpayers and for Harlow.”

Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride added: “The Public Health England hub will without doubt be great news for Harlow, bringing long-term high skilled jobs and continuing Harlow’s journey to be a science and technology hub in the east of England.

“I support it 100 per cent. I welcome the debate in the House of Commons on the issue. However, the debate makes clear this is far from a done deal with competition between existing sites at Porton and Collindale and the preferred site in Harlow.

“While Public Health England has said the former GSK site is its preferred location for the hub, the department is now measuring the strengths of the Harlow site against the other sites.”

Abuse victims ‘suffer in silence’

OLDER victims of domestic abuse in Essex were the focus of a conference attended by county police and crime commissioner Nick Alston on Monday.

The seminar, hosted by the charity Safer Places which supports adults and children affected by domestic and sexual abuse in West Essex, highlighted the growing number of domestic abuse victims over the age of 50 and ways to improve the services available to them.

It was attended by police, social workers, health professionals, care agencies, women’s aid groups and support organisations for the elderly.

In his speech, Mr Alston said: “Abuse involving older victims is an area that can easily be overlooked and we need to work out how we reach those we may not be reaching now.”

Janet Dalrymple, of Safer Places, said a quarter of older victims were abused by their adult children.

“For many, their abuser, whether their partner or child, has mental health, substance misuse or physical health problems,” she said. “For many the shame and strong belief that these things should be kept private, as well as fear about what will happen if they do report what is happening to them, means they suffer in silence.”

A MOTHER whose disabled son attends the Essex Cares hub in Harlow has said how much happier he is as a result.

Donny Napodano, 22, needs round-the-clock care and attends The Hub@Harlow - a wellbeing and activity centre, in Pymses Road, every day. His mother Rafaela, 50, said he loves the time he spends there.

"Donny started in February and he does lots of different things here," said Ms Napodano, 50, of Nazeing. "He plays with the Wii Fit, he does exercises in his chair, he does cooking and art and painting and he spends time in the sensory room. He does so much there and it means a lot.

"He is very happy and it makes me happy to see him going somewhere where he can take part in a lot of different things.

"The staff here are brilliant and talk to me about everything that's been happening and I can talk to them. It's great."

Donny has severe learning disabilities. He uses a wheelchair and communicates non-verbally.

Ms Napodano, who also has a daughter, 18-year-old Silvia, said: "How much Donny understands I don't know but he smiles and you can see him taking it in and he is happier since he started coming here.

"Donny comes here five days a week but before he started here, he was at home not doing much." Donny spent eight months at home after finishing college before he started at the centre.

"He just loves it here. He loves music and the sensory room is amazing. He really enjoys that. It's made a big difference to him," Ms Napodano added.

Fiona Hogg, operations manager at the centre, said: "Donny is a joy to support, he's always happy, always smiling. "All the staff love him and they take him out into the community so he can feel the wind in his hair and the sun on his face."

The centre reopened in January this year, and since the refurbishment and relaunch the number of customers attending The Hub has increased steadily.

Now the centre caters for more than 40 people a day and the waiting list for new customers continues to grow.

Ms Hogg added: "The centre has been specifically designed for fully-inclusive programmes for people with learning or physical disabilities as well as elderly residents.

"We offer most of our rooms and services to hire as well which means people that may not be able to get the full service here at the centre, can hire out and experience aspects of it which is obviously good for them.

"A lot of our customers have choices made for them whereas the centre is for them and they can make choices as to what they do with their day, what they eat and things like that.

"We get a say so why should it be any different with our customers? They should have a say and some control over what they do and we try to provide those choices."

Crisis looming as charity struggles to cope with stray cats

THE growing number of abandoned and stray cats and kittens in Harlow is reaching crisis levels and threatens to overwhelm the local RSPCA branch, the charity warned this week.

The problem is so serious that former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt, who is also a vice president of the RSPCA, visited its advice centre at The Stow on Friday to raise awareness of the situation.

The increase in abandoned cats is putting pressure on local resources and the Stort Valley branch now has a seven-month waiting list to take in animals that owners say they can no longer keep.

It currently has 20 abandoned kittens and 45 adult cats who are waiting to be rehomed.

National figures from the RSPCA reveal an 14 per cent increase in the number of cats abandoned this year compared to 2013.

Mr Howitt said: “The cute rescued kittens I’ve been shown need loving homes but there needs to be much more awareness about how to keep a cat as a pet.

“The RSPCA here in Harlow, and nationally, is under great pressure as the number of abandoned cats and kittens continues to rise. The advice is not to wait until your cat has a first litter but to have it neutered as soon as it reaches four months.

“The RSPCA is doing a wonderful job finding homes for neglected and abandoned animals but it needs everyone’s help in learning how best to care for pets.”

He added: “I’m working hard with the charity in the European Parliament to ensure that it is an effective voice for animal welfare across the continent.”

A local RSPCA welfare officer said: “Once the summer draws to an end we often find we have many weak mothering cats who are sometimes on their second or even third litter of kittens.

“The kittens can become very sick and often do not survive. It can be heartbreaking for animal shelter staff to see so much suffering.

“The RSPCA would encourage anyone of the public who takes on a kitten to have them neutered at four months to reduce the risk of any unwanted litters being born. It is the responsibility of any animal owner to ensure they have considered the cost and all other aspects relating to kittens’ care before committing to a new pet.”

She added: “There is a very real problem and the RSPCA faces a cat crisis which seems to only get worse on a yearly basis.

“We would urge anyone looking to rehome a kitten to rescue one which has been vaccinated, microchipped and treated for all parasites.”

AR ESTAURANT in Harlow is giving the unemployed the opportunity to carve out a new career by teaming up with employment provider Ingeus.

The Toby Carvery, at Edinburgh Gate, has helped former roofer James Rafferty retrain as a chef after he moved back to the town from Kent and struggled to find work.

Mr Rafferty, 47, said: “I was very despondent. Living temporarily with friends and family meant I didn’t even have a secure home address to offer potential employers.

“Ingeus gave me lots of practical help like access to the internet and a phone and helping me look for vacancies. I’ve done some catering work before so when Ingeus suggested Toby Carvery I jumped at the chance.

“Mr Rafferty started off assisting in the kitchen and is now a trainee chef.

Restaurant manager Chris Lennon said: “James is proof that having the right work ethic and pride in what you do outweighs direct experience.

“We can teach the skills involved in the job but his proactive attitude and attitude is what’s got him so far.

“His promotion has opened up a kitchen assistant vacancy again so we’ve gone back to Ingeus to recruit.”
Teen shouted death threats at police and pub manager

A DRUNKEN teenager began shouting death threats at the bar manager of a Harlow pub before spitting at a police officer, a court heard.

The 15-year-old, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, was made the subject of a nine-month referral order which involves an activity programme aimed at keeping him out of further trouble.

The youth, from Roydon, admitted two offences of criminal damage, two offences of assault and one of threatening behaviour.

Chelmsford Youth Court was told that he damaged 10 beer glasses belonging to the pub, caused damage to a police car, assaulted bar manager Daniel Kelly and a police officer and threatened to kill both.

Angela Mahadeo, prosecuting, said police went to the William Aylmer pub in Harlow town centre on August 18 after receiving a report of a disturbance. Police arrived and saw the boy throw a pint glass at Mr Kelly, causing several cuts on his forearm.

“He was then seen running towards the exit still throwing glasses at the manager and one at police, smashing into a door frame,” said Miss Mahadeo.

She said he was shouting “I’ll fing get him, I’ll kill him,” and then yelled at police officers: “I’ll kill you when you’re off duty.”

After he was arrested he headbutted the window of the police car and continued making death threats to the officers. While he was being taken into custody he spat directly at one police officer.

His lawyer, Lauren Bond, told the court it was the first time he had gone drinking and he did not know the affect it would have on him.

She said: “He’s deeply sorry; he can recall very little. He was intoxicated for the first time. After being allowed to go into the bar he became completely intoxicated.

“He didn’t realise how it would affect him but he has got no excuse, he says it’s not acceptable.”

The youth was ordered to pay £75 compensation to the bar manager, £50 to the police officer in whose direction he spat and £40 costs.

Complaints down by a third and more compliments for county’s ambulance service

COMPLAINTS about the East of England Ambulance Service have fallen by a third while the number of compliments has risen.

Figures released by the Health and Social Care Information Centre show the trust received 798 complaints in 2013-14 compared to 1,177 during the previous 12 months.

Over the same period there were 1,389 compliments praising the service and its staff, an increase of almost 200.

EEAST handled more than 912,000 emergency calls and 774,000 non-emergency patient transport journeys in 2014-15.

Chief executive Dr Anthony Marsh said: “We have been working hard to improve our service to patients and this is another encouraging sign that things are getting better.

“As we recruit hundreds of new frontline staff as well as upskill our existing staff, the service and response to patients will continue to improve.”
Day the world’s biggest airship flew over town

LIVING so close to Stansted Airport means Harlow residents are used to seeing planes in the sky, but 84 years ago the world’s biggest airship flew over the town.

The R101, which was 777 feet long (236m), only flew twice. On its second flight it crashed over France where it lay as a wreck well into 1931 before being salvaged. However, it’s maiden flight was a success and the R101 flew right over Harlow.

Neil Betteridge, 46, sent in this photo of the airship as it crossed the town on October 1, 1930. The picture was taken by his great grandmother, Annie Foulkes.

“The giant airship passed over Essex as it headed towards the coast and then returned to its hanger at Bedford. “The house in the photo is called ‘The Endway’, ” said taxi driver Mr Betteridge, who is a member of the Facebook page Harlow Photos - Old and New. “It still exists on Three Horseshoes Road and it’s the house that my nan grew up in.

“We worked out my nan’s age and she would have been nearly eight when the R101 passed over. She told me that it wasn’t something that they knew was going to happen, it was just a case of they saw it and took the photo. “She said that her mum took the photo. She remembered that it came over on a weekday and her dad would have been at work.” It was Mr Betteridge’s grandmother - Doris Page, 92, who still lives in Harlow with husband Bert, 87, - who fuelled his interest in local history.

“I developed an interest in the history of Harlow from an early age by the stories she would tell me about life in the villages that are now the new town,” he said.

Can you name these men of the Home Guard?

THIS photo of the Potter Street Home Guard unit was sent in by Nostalgia reader Mr A.C. Stevenson. Mr Stevenson, who is now in his 90s, served in the Royal Navy during the Second World War.

In the letter that accompanied the photo he writes: “I myself am a Potter Street man, born during the First World War. “I served in the Royal Navy for six years but I knew a lot of these men. I wonder if any of their relatives are still alive. “I have been to lots of countries in the world but now I live back in Potter Street.”

What to do if you think you’ve been mis-sold PPI

The mis-selling of payment protection insurance, or PPI, on loans, credit cards, hire purchase agreements, mortgages or other credit repayments has resulted in significant damage to the reputation of financial institutions. Late last month the Financial Conduct Authority ordered banks and other lenders to re-open more than 2.5 million complaints about PPI that were rejected or paid too little in compensation.

You may have been a victim of PPI mis-selling. If one of the following applies:

- you were pressured into taking PPI
- you were not advised that it was optional
- you were advised to take cover that was not suitable for you
- you thought PPI was a condition or would increase your chances of getting credit
- significant exclusions were not explained such as being self-employed or pre-existing medical conditions;

> » the PPI was added without your knowledge;
> » you were not advised that you would pay interest on the cost of PPI if it was added to the loan;
> » it was not made clear that PPI cover would end before the loan or credit was repaid.

These are just some examples; you may have been mis-sold PPI for other reasons.

Guidance about how to claim and standard letters and claim forms can be found on several websites including www.financial-ombudsman.org.uk and www.moneysavingexpert.com.

Award presentation a proud day for Scouts

THE Scouting movement in Harlow was this week presented with the Queen’s Award for Voluntary Service.

The Lord Lieutenant of Essex handed the award to district commissioner Ann Nutt during a ceremony held at Harlow Civic Centre on Monday.

The award was announced earlier this year as part of the Queen’s Birthday Honours. Harlow District Scouts are the only group in the country to have received the honour.

Among those present at the ceremony were Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett, Essex County Council chairman Norman Hume and representatives of the Harlow Health Centres Trust and Roydon Parish Council.

Ms Nutt said the award was down to “the hard work of everyone involved in Scouting”.

She said: “This award is the recognition that Scouts go over and beyond what is expected and it is thanks to all those involved, from parents and the executive committee to our bushads and wives and partners.”

The Lord Lieutenant, Lord Petre, read out an official statement from Buckingham Palace and said he was both delighted to present the award to the Scouts.

“It is a very prestigious award,” he said.

“It is an award for the entire group and the only award that the whole of Essex received in this year’s birthday honours.”

The award will be put on display in the Civic Centre.

Cllr Beckett said: “I have been chair of Harlow Council for three months and what has struck me is nearly every single event I have been to has had a small kind of youth involvement, whether it has been a youth-led event or residents working for and with our young people.

“When people tell me there isn’t enough for young people to do and that young people are just hanging out in the streets I think ‘open your eyes’.

“There are good things that are happening, young people are doing for the benefit of the community and for their own pleasure and this is something that does not get shouted about enough.”

“With this award we have an opportunity to really shout about the importance of our young people, about working for them and working with them.”

Beautician reaches final of magazine’s The Body competition

A BEAUTICIAN from Harlow has been named as one of five finalists in Women’s Health magazine’s ‘The Body 2014’ competition. Stevie Hartley, 22, suffered from post-natal depression before finding strength through fitness.

She said: “It takes away the initial joy of being a new mum and makes functioning like a normal human being so difficult. Thankfully, I have a supportive family who helped me get the support I needed but I knew long-term I needed to take charge of my own health.”

Stevie soon found strength, both physical and mental, through exercising. “I wanted to pull myself out of the hole, so when I saw an advert for the Insanity workout DVDs, I phoned up immediately. “At first it was so hard. After each session my muscles were burning but I started seeing results within two weeks. “Exercise is a vital part of my life now. I’d be in a much darker place without it.”

The Body 2014 competition is judged by Women’s Health editor Farrah Storr, Olympic champion cyclist Victoria Pendleton, dancer Kimberly Wyatt and fitness model Nathalie Schillert.

Farrah Storr said: “We’ve been overwhelmed by both the number and the quality of the entries we’ve received for our first ever The Body 2014 competition. “These five finalists haven’t just created a beautiful body; they’ve created a healthy, sustainable lifestyle that will keep them fit and happy for years to come. We can’t wait to see who the public crowns as their The Body 2014 winner.”

>> To vote for Stevie as the winner of The Body 2014 visit www.womenshealthmag.co.uk/WHTheBody2014. Votes must be cast before Friday, October 3.

Local policing is key to shake-up

LOCAL policing teams working around the clock are among changes introduced by Essex Police.

Each of the county’s 10 policing districts will now have a team of officers under the control of a chief inspector, who will be responsible for responding to and investigating crime and other community concerns.

The teams will be dealing with issues such as anti-social behaviour, safeguarding repeat and vulnerable victims and tackling drug and alcohol misuse.

They will work from local stations and operate on a 24/7 basis. It will mean 500 officers will work under the direct control of local police commanders.

The shake-up aims to put the emphasis on local policing, and demonstrate accountability to communities and a strong understanding of local problems.

Chief Constable Stephen Kavanagh said: “Local policing is at the very heart of how I believe the public want policing delivered in the county. The changes we are making demonstrate our commitment to local policing.

“The development of local teams, supported by new policing hubs, recognises the fact that communities want officers with good local knowledge who really understand their local issues.”

He said Police Community Support Officers would continue to play a key role by providing a visible presence in the community, adding: “I understand and agree with the importance residents and businesses attach to this local presence.”

BIANCA CASTRO
bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Essex Police and Crime Commissioner Nick Alston said: “At the heart of the Police and Crime Plan for Essex is the concept of local solutions for local problems and I know the Chief Constable remains committed to this approach.

“Returning officers to local supervision ensures ongoing ownership of crime and anti-social behaviour incidents by local officers.”

Mr Alston added: “I’m delighted that PCSOs remain an integral part of the local policing model, I know how highly they are valued by local communities, and the visible presence they provide through their regular patrol beats is invaluable.

“Another key element is close working between Essex Police and key partner agencies, such as Community Safety Partnerships, who together can help build a safer Essex.

“As the local policing model develops, plans for enhanced and focused meetings between local officers and PCSOs and the public they serve will be implemented.

“I see the opportunity such engagement provides for ensuring local challenges are addressed and resolved over time as a key part of the new local policing model.”

Essex Police is also introducing dedicated domestic abuse investigation teams across the county. Specialist officers and staff will oversee all domestic abuse investigations as well as work closely with partner agencies to provide a “robust, co-ordinated response”.

Fastest dog on two legs

IF you were asked what breed of dog was the fastest you may well answer a greyhound or whippet. But meet Jiff, a petite Pomeranian who has just set two world records for running on his front legs and on his back legs.

Jiff can run a distance of 10 metres on his hind legs in a time of 6.66 seconds and five metres on his front paws in 7.76 seconds.

Craig Glenday, editor-in-chief of Guinness World Records, said: “When Jiff first walked into our offices we weren't even sure he was real. “He looks like a living, breathing cuddly toy. He might be toy-sized but he's got a huge personality and he certainly deserves his place in the new Guinness World Records book.”

In addition to his talent for two-legged running, he is also able to shake hands, bow, ride a skateboard and even stamp his own autograph.

He has also appeared in several television advertisements and taken a starring role in a Katy Perry music video.

Playhouse to host a world premiere

ROSS WILDISH
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The world premiere of a new production of the hit musical Copacabana will be playing at the Harlow Playhouse next month. Packed with original songs, dazzling costumes and dynamic choreography, this new production is described as a ‘re-imagining’ of the original stage version of the musical which was first performed in the US in 1991.

Based on the Barry Manilow track of the same name, Copacabana tells the story of showgirl Lola, aspiring songwriter Tony and their uneasy journey to get into show business. The show features original songs by Manilow such as Dancin’ Fool, Who Needs To Dream, Aye Caramba as well as the Grammy Award-winning title track of the show. There have been over 200 productions of the show and it has entertained audiences worldwide. Starring in the role of Tony is former 5 Club 7 singer Jon Lee, pictured right, who also appeared in stage productions of Aladdin, Les Misérables and Love Shack.

Enjoy these live experiences together,” said Mr Ezra. “With the addition of subtitles, the deaf and hard-of-hearing can understand what is going on and actually enjoy themselves.”

3D Experience recently received backing from entrepreneur George Georgiou to further develop an off-screen cinema subtitle system which could be used in cinemas. He said: “People in the cinema don’t like subtitles distracting them, but this new system will be off the screen and not visible unless you want to see it.”

Confident he can compete with competitors by offering value for money to chains and independents, he said: “Glasses developed by Sony can cost up to £1,000, where as with our system you only have to use lightweight 3D glasses which cost less than £1.”

AN inventor has been working with Harlow Playhouse to improve the theatre experience for those with impaired hearing.

Jack Ezra, owner of 3D Experience, has developed the “invisible subtitles” system that makes subtitles visible only to members of the audience who choose to wear special lightweight glasses.

“The whole point of our system is it’s not intrusive to the hearing audience, but if you put the glasses on you will clearly see the subtitles,” he said.

The system will be piloted during the forthcoming production of the Barry Manilow musical Copacabana. As Ezra has received positive feedback from the innovative subtitle system and believes it will open up musical theatre to the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

“Previously families with deaf people haven’t been able to enjoy these live experiences together,” said Mr Ezra. “With the addition of subtitles, the deaf and hard-of-hearing can understand what is going on and actually enjoy themselves.”

Focus on flavour rather than agonise over appearance

Recipe of the week

RED MULLET ON BAKED PROVINCIAL VEGETABLES

SERVES 4

- 2 large aubergines
- 3 large courgettes, cut into 5mm slices
- Olive oil, for drizzling
- 4 and 170g red mullet fillets, pin-boned and scaled
- 1 tsp lemon thyme leaves (ordinary thyme if lemon isn’t available)
- 1 tsp apricot jam
- Flaky sea salt, to finish
- Freshly ground black pepper

FOR THE ONION JAM:

- 3/2 tbsp olive oil
- 2 tbsp red wine vinegar
- 200g red onions, halved and sliced
- 1 tsp lemon thyme leaves
- 1 tbsp light muscovado sugar
- 3 garlic cloves, grated
- Finely grated zest of 1 lemon
- 50g soft dark brown sugar

Pierce the aubergines all over with a sharp knife, put them on a plate, and cover with cling film. Microwave them on full power for 8-10 minutes, until they are very soft in the middle. If you don’t have a microwave, place the prepared aubergines on a baking tray and bake at 200°C/Gas Mark 6 for 45-50 minutes, until they are soft and tender on the inside.

Meanwhile, to make the onion jam, pour the olive oil and vinegar into a large saucepan with the onions, thyme and sugar and cook over a medium heat for 40-50 minutes, until the onions are soft and have an almost jammy consistency. Stir from time to time and make sure the mixture doesn’t catch on the bottom.

Remove from the heat and add the garlic and lemon zest. Mix the onion jam into the mashed-up aubergines and spoon this into the bottom of an ovenproof serving dish. Preheat the oven to 180°C/Gas mark 4. Prepare a bowl of iced water and place it by the bowl. Bring a large saucepan of water to the boil and drop in the tomatoes; count to ten, then remove and plunge them into the iced water. Peel the skins from the tomatoes and slice them into 5mm slices. Layer the tomatoes and courgettes on top of the aubergine and onion mixture in lines, or one by one, or just randomly. Drizzle on some olive oil and season. Bake for 10-12 minutes.

Remove from the oven and put the fillets of red mullet on top, skin-side up. Return to the oven and bake for eight to 10 minutes, until the fish is cooked.

Sprinkle on the lemon thyme and season with flaky sea salt. Serve immediately.

"Some of the best dishes you’ll ever have - a paella in Spain, a really good pizza in Italy or a really good stew in this country - never look like pretty pictures on plates, but they taste incredible and you always remember what something tastes like."

"You come away thinking it feels like this has been cooked with love - and that’s the most important thing, about cooking."

Focusing on flavour is a mantra that hasn’t changed during Kerridge’s career. And while life shifts around him, he takes comfort in the things he’s always held dear, such as the praise of his mum who raised him and his brother alone.

“She’s a very proud mum, which is great,” he says with a big laugh. "Even as a 41-year-old bloke, your mum being proud of you is still cool.”

Tom Kerridge’s Best Ever Dishes is published by Absolute Press, priced £15. Tom Kerridge’s Best Ever Dishes airs on BBC Two later this autumn.
Rom-com delivers laughter and tears

Based on the novel Here Be Monsters! by Alan Snow, The Boxtrolls is a rollicking stop-motion animated romp that proves weird can truly be wonderful. With faint echoes of Raymond Briggs’ Fungus The Bogeyman, this quirky fantasy imagines a race of subterranean creatures called Boxtrolls who root through bins in search of spare parts for their mechanical creations.

They grant Snatcher a place at the cheese-tasting top table if the exterminator and his henchmen - Mr Trout (Nick Frost), Mr Pickles (Richard Ayoade) and Mr Gristle (Tracy Morgan) - kill every last Boxtroll. Unaware that he is human, abducted boy Eggs (Isaac Hempstead-Wright) ventures above ground with the Boxtrolls and encounters Lord Portley-Rind’s sly daughter, Winnie (Elle Fanning).

She initially believes the horror stories about Boxtrolls devouring children but once she learns the truth about Eggs’ past she agrees to help vanquish Snatcher and his snivelling cohorts.

The Full Monty and Billy Elliot that rouses the audience to bellowing deluge of hot, salty tears. As a fresh-faced trailblazer and sobs aplenty from Mackay as the catering student who cannot conceal his sexuality forever.

Pride (15, 120mins)

Matthew Warchus, who succeeds Kevin Spacey as artistic director of the Old Vic next year, directs this barnstorming culture-clash comedy drama based on the true story of a group of gays and lesbians who supported the miners during the 1984 strike and raised thousands of pounds for beleaguered communities which dared to stand up to the Thatcher government. Mark Ashton (Ben Schnetzer) is the charismatic and outspoken leader of young, impassioned campaigners who operate out of the Gay’s The Word bookshop in London run by Celphine (Andrew Scott).

Reading news stories about the miner’s strike, Mark recognizes a cause to champion. “Mining communities are being bullied just like we are,” he tells his coterie comprising Mike (Joseph Gilgun), Jonathan (Dominic West), Jeff (Freddie Fox), Steph (Faye Marsay) and closeted new boy Joe (George MacKay).

They form LGSM - Gays Support the Miners - and rattle tins for a randomly selected Welsh community. Mining representative Dai (Paddy Considine) invites Mark and co to the Dulais Valley where committee members Hefina (Imelda Staunton), Cliff (Bill Nighy) and Sian (Jessica Gunning) embrace the fundraisers with open arms. However, some of the locals are reputed.

“We’re being backed up by perverts,” sneers homophobic mother Maureen (Lisa Palfrey), kindling conflict between some of the neighbours and the LGSM. Pride embraces and subverts stereotypes, deftly weaving together stories of personal triumph and anguish as the spectre of Aids casts a long shadow over the gay community.

This uplifting story of solidarity in the face of adversity and police intimidation is an absolute joy, an unabashed, irresistible crowd-pleaser in the magnificent mould of Full Monty and Billy Elliot that rouses the audience to bellowing deluge of hot, salty tears. Performances are exemplary, including a fiery turn from Schnetzer as a fresh-faced trailblazer and sobs aplenty from Mackay as the catering student who cannot conceal his sexuality forever.

Situated in a little-known location at Harlow Common and sitting in private and secluded grounds of about two acres, this detached home offers something for everyone. It has spacious accommodation supported by recreational facilities including a tennis court, swimming pool with pool house, Japanese-styled koi pond and a summer house.

It is an elegant, modernist designed property extending to about 5,565 sq ft with other areas of accommodation. There is plenty of space and natural light as the reception rooms are well lit by generous areas of glass. The bedroom accommodation can be split or used both upstairs and down if required.

The entrance hall provides access to a cloakroom, study, bedroom with en-suite bathroom, a large family room and an even larger sitting room.

Next to this is the dining room and then the stylish kitchen/breakfast room with a utility room and wine store. There is also a store room and a study.

Upstairs is the master bedroom with en-suite bathroom and balcony with views across the grounds. There are a further four bedrooms and a family bathroom.

The grounds, which cover the best part of two acres, are predominately grassed with mature hedgerows and trees and are designed to offer secluded entertaining space for family and guests.

The location is via a private lane and entry is through electronic gates. This property is on the market with the Howick and Brooker Partnership in Old Harlow. Call (01279) 418888 for full details or to arrange a viewing.

EVErywhere I look at the moment there seem to be builders, skips outside of houses, scaffolding going up and old structures coming down.

It looks like there has been a sudden rush of home improvements. Whether this is to get things done before more inclement weather sets in or home owners are feeling a little wealthier I couldn’t say.

According to new research from Lloyds Bank, as a nation we’re obsessed with making changes to our homes. Some 44 per cent of us have either completed some significant home improvements or are planning to do so shortly.

Common reasons cited for these projects are to change the use of a room (32 per cent) and to add value (33 per cent). The fact that changing a room’s function is unlikely to add any value (a fact recognised by 40 per cent of those interviewed) didn’t seem to deter anyone.

In fact, 17 per cent believed that in doing so, they had added £10,000 - £25,000 and a highly optimistic 10 per cent were under the impression they had added between £25,000 - £50,000. Actually, sacrificing a bedroom can just as easily reduce the value of a property.

Apparentely 25 per cent of us buy properties with the intention of adding value either by updating or extending them. Some 29 per cent of home improvers estimate that, as the result of the work they’d carried out, the property was worth between £10,000 to £25,000 more. Not a bad return when the average home improvement project costs just £4,000.

However we have a tendency to over-estimate the value we add, especially if the work is not of the right quality. Around 10 per cent of projects go wrong, tainting us with a bill typically as high as £3,200.

Of course, no one wanted to take responsibility. Shoddy workmanship was blamed for the problems by 54 per cent of those surveyed.

Moving can be stressful enough, but a bit of forethought can go a long way. For example, many people seize the opportunity to clear any unwanted clutter out of their homes and lives. Charity shops, car boot sales, and friends can be grateful recipients of some items, and hiring a small skip for a couple of weeks (about £80-£120) can be liberating!

Our advice would be to have a cleared early in the process – ideally before you even put your property on the market. An uncluttered house with tidy cupboards and a clear garage all improve the presentation of your home tremendously, thereby increasing its saleability and possibly its price. The reduced volume should also bring down your removal costs. You can bring these down further by considering if there are any bulky pieces of furniture that you are thinking of having treated. For example, your current sofa might not look right in your new home unless it is recovered. So, if you are moving locally, why not ask the upholsterer to collect the sofa a couple of weeks before moving day and deliver it, re-upholstered, to your new one?

Do make sure that you plan where larger items are going in advance. It’s easy for the removals to put something like a piano in the wrong room, but difficult for you to move it elsewhere after they have left. As well as making sure that a place fits in a certain room, do also find out if the access to that room is easy enough.

Finally, direct the removals to pack things you will need on the day such as children’s beds, kitchen and bathroom accessories, clothing, food and work-related items and so they will be the first things to be unloaded at the other end.

Remember – planning is the key to a stress-free move!

“A team of adrenalin junkies from the Harlow-based CrossFit guys braved flaming obstacles in a stamina-sapping 13km ‘Superman Sprint’ at Pippingford Park, East Sussex.

CrossFit is perfect for obstacle training.

As well as the rigorous training they had from their regular CrossFit sessions, the team also had a taste of what to expect from Spartan at an assault course at Hubbards Hall, Churchgate Street.

“Coming from a non-runner it was tough,” said Nikki Burton, a CrossFit Raeda member. “I don’t think anyone could have prepared me, especially for all the hills. But CrossFit certainly helped with the upper body obstacles, for

Hawks in late controversy

Harlow Town .......... 1 Thurrock .......... 1
(Ryman League, division one north)

BY JOSHUA REA LONG
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BOSS Danny Chapman slammed his side’s profligacy in front of goal as the Hawks were denied a seventh consecutive win in league and cup after a controversial late goal from Thurrock on Tuesday.

The home side appeared to be heading for all three points after skipper James Smith gave them the lead shortly after half-time.

But Town couldn’t see the victory through, Charlie Stimson bundling in the Thurrock equaliser in the 88th minute after Harlow keeper Dean Driscoll appeared to be fouled under a floated free-kick into the box.

The result left Harlow second in the Ryman division one north.

Chapman said: ‘We dominated the game. If we had been a bit more clinical with the chances we created we could have been out of sight by the time they scored their goal.

‘But as I said to the boys in there you can’t give away as many free-kicks as we did in the second half because at some point something is going to give and they’re going to score.

‘Fair play to them, they came with a game plan to intimidate us which they did to a certain extent, but the referee got intimidated and that affected his performance.’

The Hawks boss threw Robbie Martin straight into action after resigning the player.

Thurrock started well and skipper Lewis Spence had an effort cleared off the line from a corner.

Shortly after, Smith brilliantly weaved his way through the visiting defence but his shot was well saved by the legs of Thurrock keeper Andy Walker.

However, Town continued to play some impressive football and it was almost rewarded when Alex Read was through but a last-ditch tackle blocked his shot.

From the resulting corner Shane Stamp hit the crossbar with a curling effort as the first half finished up goalless.

Town took the lead just after the restart, Stamp beating his man before squaring to Smith who turned inside and struck a shot into the corner from the edge of the area.

Smith, Stamp and Cowley were causing problems: all had chances to double the lead with Cowley twice denied by Walker.

A crunching tackle from James Goode on Harlow left-back Layne Eadie could have seen red.

Eadie bravely carried on but is now a doubt as his injury worsened over-night.

Chapman said: ‘It was a bad tackle and he should have been sent off.’

Harlow weathered a storm and looked as though they would register their fourth home win of the season, until the late controversy.

The Hawks are in FA Cup action on Saturday when they travel to Ryman premier side Grays Athletic in the first qualifying round, with £3,000 prize money available to the victors.

HARLOW TN: Driscoll, Glasgow, Eddie, Urquhart, Cutthbert, Simms, Martin, Cowley, Read, Smith, Stamp.

Second’s final flourish seals championship

HARLOW Town’s second team finished the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League season unbeaten, and the draw against their nearest rivals sealed the division three title.

Skipper Jason Gladwin won the toss and chose to bat knowing that batting bonus points would see Town crowned as champions, rather than their opponents Old Southendians & Southchurch.

Wickets fell at regular intervals and Town were reeling at 69-4.

Ben Eversden (26) then set about rebuilding the innings but with his dismissal Town were stumbling at 117-8, still 33 runs short of the batting bonus points required to claim the title.

Mohammed Hassan Ali (34), Conor Fussell (20) and Graeme Eversden (14 not out) made sure the target was reached, enabling Town to declare on 153-9 from 52 overs and securing the league title in the process.

Hassan Ali (2-29) removed both openers, but it was the introduction of ultra-slow bowler Simon Rowell which mesmerised the middle order, taking the initiative rapidly away from the visitors.

His 15 overs produced another five-wicket haul (6-26).

Rowell has been instrumental in this league campaign, securing an astonishing 55 wickets, including seven five-wicket hauls and a best of 7-45.

Town threw everything at the final pair but they held firm to record a well deserved draw, 123-9.

Skipper Gladwin said: ‘To finish the season unbeaten is a wonderful achievement beyond all our expectations. We felt we were the best overall side in the league and great credit goes to OS&SCC for pushing us to the wire.

‘Hutton fourths (242-6 declared) lost to Town’s third team (245-4 by two wickets).

The thirds knew a positive result would almost certainly see them promoted and most probably crowned league winners.

Gladwin (46) and Blake (105) helped the hosts declare on 242-6.

Town lost early wickets in reply, but Passmores Academy head teacher Vic Goddard (61) was a class apart as he rebuilt the innings, firstly with Vinesh Patel (22) and then Kevin Tilleard.

Goddard was dismissed with the score on 131 but the experienced Tilleard remained calm and his innings of 88 was crucial. He lofted the final ball of the 48th over for a huge six to win the game with an over to spare.

The hosts provided the Town skipper with a bottle of Champagne to celebrate their victory and title, again proving the spirit of cricket still exists.

Town’s fourth team succumbed to 80 all out as they lost to champions Billericay fourths (202-3 declared).

Louis Hayes (81) and Martin Southwell (72) batted superbly for Billericay.

Paul Smith’s 38 made the score a little more respectable.
Read a pen pal as table-toppers win in front of bumper crowd

Harlow Town ............................................. 1
Soham Town Rangers ................................0
(Ryman League, division one north)

This season by dispatching his spot-kick. This was awarded after a handball by a Soham player was spotted by the referee after a James Smith cross was floated into the box on 21 minutes.

Chapman was pleased with the win – and the crowd.

“We want to bring more people in. It was really pleasing to get over 400 people there and hopefully some of them will come back.”

“We deserved the win. It could have been a few more. Whether you win one-nil or five-nil, winning football matches is a good habit, and that’s another win.”

Harlow Town

Caribbean quest pays off for England starlet Will

ALAN SCOTT
alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MANY teenagers might go on holiday following their GCSEs for a bit of relaxation. But for Harlow Athletic Club member and England Athletics U-17 Championship javelin silver medallist Will Marklew, it was the opportunity to head to a Caribbean island to keep up with his training regime to prepare him for the England National Octathlon Championships later this month.

Will immersed himself in the local culture in Grenada and experienced the sort of Caribbean style international coaching which has benefited the likes of Usain Bolt and Yohan Blake in their careers.

Will (16) joined in with training at the local athletic club Saint David’s Track Blazers in Grenada and enjoyed one-to-one coaching for up the three hours daily with their top coach Paul Phillip.

The club, which operates from a playing field two minutes from one of the islands most picturesque secluded beaches, has facilities that are in direct contrast to Will’s local club, below.

With just a grassy field, often shared with the odd sheep or goat or calf, a handful of javelins, a few shots and discus, a few hurdles and a sandpit, the club manager to turn out international champions who are then snapped up for US College scholarships.

The opportunity for Will arose when his father, Adrian, wrote to the Grenada Athletics Association asking for help with finding training facilities to use during their holiday. The association’s president Charles George put them in touch with Kwame Hypolite, PR officer for the Grenada Athletics Association, who confirmed that they would be honoured to host the youngster during his visit.

Speaking of the experience, Will said: “I was really flattered that they wanted to invest so much time in me when they have such brilliant athletes of their own.”

CARIBBEAN QUEST: Will Marklew with the head coach at St David’s Track Blazers Athletic Club in Grenada, below, will swap vested with Grenada international athlete Anderson Peters.

Training for two-three hours daily was a little tough sometimes in the heat, but cooling off in the sea was always waiting at the end of training!

“The standard of coaching was excellent and I have made some lifelong friends. I would love to come back again one day.”

Explaining why they were so eager to accommodate Will and his family, and summing up his progress over the few weeks, coach Paul Phillip said: “By nature Grenadians are generous people and so when the request was made we felt compelled to assist, further we knew that our club (St David’s Track Blazers) was the only club with active training in the areas identified.

“Upon meeting young William it was clear that he possesses a wealth of talent, and because of his high level of commitment to training he was able to grasp the technical changes shown to him thereby allowing him to impress most of his personal bests.

“Young William has shown that he is able to grow and develop over a short period of time and that he possesses the right mix of abilities and qualities that will thrust him further and we wish him all the best. We expect great things from him in track and field and all he has to remember is that he has to train hard in order to win easy.”

“Re-signing Courtney was one of my highest priorities during the summer,” he said.

Although he doesn’t often start, he brings us massive energy off the bench and is capable of playing starter’s minutes if needed.

“He’s one of the best English players in the league and a big part of why we finished second in the table last year and reached two semi-finals.”

Seven-foot centre Lawrence Brown also returned for a third season with his Billericay team-mates and Youngblood is hoping for big things from the 26-year-old.

“When he’s playing well, Lawrence can cause real problems for other teams. He needs to be more consistent, but with the impact big man I’m hoping to bring in we should be able to dominate inside,” he said.

Ambrose Downs and out after 100 miles!

HARLOW Leisurezone will host its first ever Essex Leopards Basketball Club match on Sunday.

The Essex National League division one club will play their next home fixture at the Harlow base, switching games between the Second Avenue venue and its usual home in Belfairs.

Tip-off is 3.15pm when they host a Philippines select team in a pre-season friendly.

Admission prices have been slashed for the Big Cats’ first game, and tickets can be ordered in advance at leopardsbasketball.co.uk.

Adults are £4, children £2, with family tickets at £9.50 (two adults, two children) and £11 (two adults, three children).

Essex Leopards coach Robert Youngblood has re-signed two key players from last season’s side.

Courtney Van Beest, who finished second in the club’s MVP (Most Valuable Player) award behind 26-year-old Dawayne Michael, also returns.

Leopards tour of the USA on Sunday.

Youngblood is delighted to have snapped up the English guard/forward.

“Re-signing Courtney was one of my highest priorities during the summer,” he said.

Although he doesn’t often start, he brings us massive energy off the bench and is capable of playing starter’s minutes if needed.

“He’s one of the best English players in the league and a big part of why we finished second in the table last year and reached two semi-finals.”

Ambrose Downs and out after 100 miles!

HARLOW Running Club member Steve Ambrose completed the exhausting North Downs Way 100, a 100 mile trail race spread over two days and following the picturesque South Downs countryside starting at Farnham in Surrey and finishing at Wye in Kent.

Meanwhile, at the Kent Coastal Marathon, taking in the towns of Broadstairs, Margate and Ramsgate, Gary Godfrey finished in 2:18.33.

At the Bupa Great North Run Half Marathon Saera Karim finished in 8142nd place out of 41,549 finishers in 1:53.35 in her debut at the distance and she was followed by Andy Ramage 23,804th in 2:22.01.

Serial double header runner Andy Kinney finished Cheltenham Parkrun 5K in 16:55 place out of 321 finishers in 17:24. and then the next day completed the Cheltenham Half Marathon in 2:33:54 place out of 2844 finishers in 2:38.33.

At the Gunpowder Parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey Pushpa Mistry finished in 95th place out of 146 finishers in 29.20.

Lovely Jubilee!

THJE Jubilee Trophy, contested between four societies which have been running at Canons Brook Golf Club for 40 years, was staged at the Harlow venue.

The eight-man team event is based on a stablised format.

The eventual winners were the Thorbrook Golf Society, which was established in 1967 by Cyril Beaton.

The scores were Thorbrook 289, Wasps 283, Pienners 262 and Webmen 251.

The winning team consisted of Steve Cox, Peter Overington, Adam O’Connor, Andy Nicoll, club captain Alan Grant, Bill Herrett, Mel Cross and Paul Grieves.
Bronze heartbreak for athlete Naomi

NAOMI Harryman suffered heartbreak as she was denied a long jump bronze medal in the Salisbury’s Schools Games in Manchester right at the death.
The 16-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member, pictured below, who was nursing a foot injury, was set to finish third after a leap of 5.48 metres. However, the sixth and final leap of Amy Williams was just six centimetres more than Naomi, and so knocked her down to fourth. She can still be proud of her achievement.

She was representing the South East region.
Naomi favours the heptathlon, but because this event was not available at these games for young people, she competed in the long jump as she is ranked third in the UK after a stunning season which has seen her become the England Schools long jump silver medalist and Eastern Counties U-17 long jump champion.
She has also won the bronze in long jump at an international schools competition.
At Manchester, the long jump was won by Eleanor Bromme, who leapt 5.68m. Naomi was up against the UK’s best in this event.
She has pulled out of the English Schools Championships in Boston, Lincolnshire on September 20 after medical advice. She was due to represent Essex in the heptathlon.

THE event ended in fantastic style for Harlow Town Cricket Club, as Phoenix Park celebrated three promotions and two championships for its teams.

While Ashley Alderson’s first team missed out on the title by just 10 points after drawing their match, they still went up to division two.
However, the club’s second and third string sides took the titles in their respective divisions, crowning a magnificent day for the Elizabeth Way hub.

Club chairman Stuart Alderson beamed: “It’s been a fantastic season for the whole club, capped off today with three promotions and two league titles.
“We have beaten premier division and division one teams in the league 2020 competition, won our first ever game in the National CCL Cup, hosted the Lashings All-Stars, won the indoor league and established our Tornadoes girls team.

“It will be tough to follow that up next year but each year we are progressing, and that progression is absolutely sustainable which is the key for long term success.

“Out of the 22 players in the ones and twos this week no less than 18 of them have come up through our junior section, which speaks volumes for the club and proves we have very solid foundations and our claim of being a community club is very real.”

The first team took on Old Southendians & Southchurch knowing a victory would have handed them the title.
However, their rivals also knew victory would secure promotion, so the draw was enough to go up.

Old Southendians battled first and Johnson (31) and Threadgold (27) got the innings under way, while overseas star Michael Hill shone with 45 before the lightening glove work of Pat Yates claimed a stumping off Ramya Upadhay to reduce the hosts to 105-4.

Upadhay (3-49) and Ronnie Yates (3-54) kept the run rate under control, with only a late flourish from Adam Hunt (29) enabling OSS&SCC to declare in the 52nd over on 200-8.

Stanford le-Hope had wrapped up their win in double quick time to secure their own promotion spot, leaving Town and their hosts to slug it out for the remaining place.
At this point either team could still win the league or finish outside the top two, so nerves were frayed for both teams at tea.

Town went off to another solid start against probably the best opening attack in the league of Hill and Rendell, the latter has arguably been the quickest bowler in division three this year.

Pat Yates (11) and Shiraz Ali (47) put on 40 before Pat nicked one behind, bringing Joe Holland to the wicket.

Holland (42) and Ali took control of the game, before Upadhay (52 not out) partnered Ali and Neil Gladwin (22) kept the scoreboard ticking over.

Scott Alderson and Ashley Alderson both departed without scoring and with overs running out Town opted to go for the draw (194-6).

Up and away as club marks super season

Maddie’s Farah and away a star

Junior races were run the day before the main Great North Run, and formed part of the Great City Games held on the banks of the River Tyne, where many international athletes competed.

European 5,000m and 10,000m medallist Andy Vernon also provided coaching tips for Maddie and her junior HAC colleagues Ellen Savidge and Kai Boggon. Ellen and Kai also had photos with Olympic champion Farah, as well as Great Britain international hurdler Will Sharman.

Eight-year-old Henry Moore student Maddie had an amazing run and competed against 1,000 other athletes in the U-9 race over one mile and finished in bronze medal position in a fast time of 6 minutes flat.

Maddie is coached by her mum Gina Bailey at Harlow Athletic Club where she trains with a group of children aged 8-10.

Ellen (10) ran the U-11 road race (4km) in 20.48 for 40th place out of more than 500 other young athletes.

Kai Boggon (11) ran strongly in the U-13 4km road race against 500 other athletes, finishing in 25th place in a credible time of 16.25.

Both Ellen and Kai also got their photographs taken with Farah and Sharman.

HAC coach Paul Bailey said: “Amazingly on the night before the race our athletes got to meet and have photos taken with their Olympic hero Mo Farah at the hotel, who really inspired them.

“The kids wished Mo Farah well, who went on to win the Great North Run on Sunday, out-kicking Kenyan Mike Kigen in a new British record of 60 minutes flat for the half marathon.”
